Sherman + Reilly™ Telecommunications Products Now Available via Greenlee® Communications Sales

Rockford, IL. Sherman + Reilly Telecommunications products can now be purchased through all Greenlee Communications sales representatives. Sherman + Reilly is recognized as the North American leader in the sale of cable-air-systems to the communications industry, known for their state of the art CableJetting Systems, the method of choice among Telecoms, Independents and contractors alike.

“In 2013 we welcomed Sherman + Reilly into the Textron family of brands,” said Jason Butchko, Vice President and General Manager, Greenlee Communications. “Now for 2014 we’re bringing the two brands closer together by announcing that the full line of S+R Telco products is available for purchase through our sales representatives.”

At the 2013 Outside Plant Expo, Sherman + Reilly and Greenlee Communications showcased each others’ products at their respective booths. Greenlee Communications showed customers the S+R CableJet® Cable Placing System, and Sherman + Reilly gave customers demonstrations of the Greenlee Communications 910FS Optical Fusion Splicer.

“This announcement provides our sales team with a wider, more diverse product portfolio to offer our customers, and gives our customers even more choice when selecting products to suit their telecommunications needs,” added Butchko.
